

Week at a Glance San Antonio Spurs

The Texas Department of Motor Vehicles is considering a proposal by its specialty license plate vendor to approve an official San Antonio Spurs plate.

The Texas DMV is accepting public comments until May 1. My Plates, a joint venture of Etech Inc. of Nacogdoches and Pinnacle Technical Resources of Dallas, has posted the proposed design on the txdmv.gov Web site. If approved by the state, the new Spurs plate would likely go on sale in the fall.

Since November 2009, Texans have ordered more than 45,000 My Plates. This has resulted in more than $4.2 million being put in the state's general revenue fund.

WEEK AT A GLANCE is a compilation of the breaking news filed daily on the San Antonio Business Journal's Web site. To get breaking news as it happens, visit our site at www.sanantonio.bizjournals.com.

